

Part 2: In this exercise you are given topic sentences and two key points to include to support the topic sentence. Suggest two further points for each of the paragraphs, then write the material in full. Use separate sheet of paper if necessary.

In recent seasons, many television networks changed their philosophies towards their programing.

- writers' strike in 2007 shut down many shows early that season
- shows without developed scripts, such as Dancing with the Stars flourished

College students sometimes panic during writing exercises.

- did not read syllabus before class
- forgot to bring materials
