

Haiku / Hokku

Richard Wright

52

Gazing at her face
Reflected in the spring pond,
The girl grimaces.

Richard Wright

200

A silent spring wood:
A crow opens its sharp beak
And creates a sky.

Wright, Richard. Haiku: This Other World.
New York: Anchor Books, 1998. Print.

(Sept. 4, 1908 – Nov. 28, 1960)

Richard Wright

337

Blue-black beak open,
The crow hurls a caw straight at
A sinking red sun.

Wright, Richard. Haiku: This Other World.
New York: Anchor Books, 1998. Print.

(Sept. 4, 1908 – Nov. 28, 1960)

Richard Wright

408

A dead mouse floating
Atop a bucket of cream
In the dawn spring light.

Richard Wright

474

A white butterfly
Sits with slowly moving wings
On a dead black snake.

Wright, Richard. Haiku: This Other World.
New York: Anchor Books, 1998. Print.

(Sept. 4, 1908 – Nov. 28, 1960)

Richard Wright

561

An old lonely man
Had a long conversation
Late one winter night.

Wright, Richard. Haiku: This Other World.
New York: Anchor Books, 1998. Print.

(Sept. 4, 1908 – Nov. 28, 1960)

Richard Wright

367

An old blindman
Playing a black violin
Amid fallen leaves.

Wright, Richard. Haiku: This Other World.
New York: Anchor Books, 1998. Print.

(Sept. 4, 1908 – Nov. 28, 1960)

Santoka Teneda

367

Slightly tipsy;
The leaves fall
One by one.

Teneda, Santoka. Mountain Tasting. John Stevens, trans.
New York: White Pine Press, 2009. Print.

(December 3, 1882 - October 11, 1940)

Santoka Teneda

304

If I sell my rags
And buy some sakè
Will there still be loneliness?