

The Works Cited Page

Works Cited Information

Basic information for Works Cited entries begins in the Bedford on page 530 with a directory of options.

- Although most database entries are supplied with an automatic citation, these can be incorrectly generated. You need to double check to be sure you are provided accurate information.
- Likewise, do not rely on Microsoft Word to automatically generate a correct works cited entry. The system is not compliant with the MLA standards.

Page 588 has a working example of a works cited for a basic research paper.
