

Research Paper Overview

PROJECT OBJECTIVES

The final goal of this project is to produce a well-written research paper based on a critical literary analysis which will:

- Demonstrate the ability to use the writing process to complete a critical assignment.
- Demonstrate the ability to analyze an audience and select an appropriate written communication style. (No personal voice.)
- Demonstrate the ability to use a variety of sources.
- Synthesize information from a variety of sources into a new document.
- Analyze the selected stories: do not review, nor summarize the plots.

SECTIONS

- | | |
|--|-----------------------|
| 01. Declare a topic. | < due 10.26.10 |
| 02. Formally declare a thesis statement. | < due 11.02.10 |
| 03. Tentative Works Cited Page | < due 11.23.10 |
| 04. Turn in ten page document: | < due 12.09.10 |

SOURCES

- 5 academic journals from school database (e-mail copies to instructor)
- 3 books (includes class text book)

DOCUMENT REQUIREMENTS

- Ten full pages, plus an additional work cited page
- Entire paper is double spaced, following MLA standard template

final project

THESIS POSSIBILITIES

Below are sample thesis paper topics. Choose one as a focus for your paper, manipulating the observations to suit your purposes. Utilize critical analysis to support your theories. (E-mail articles to me prior to final production of paper.)

1. Analyze the victims in the following stories: Jane in “The Yellow Wallpaper,” the Princess in “The Goose Girl,” and Homer in “A Rose for Emily.”
Each character is placed in similar situations of passivity with widely-differing results. Form an opinion regarding the various actions and motivations of the female characters.

EC

+5

2. Analyze Ray Bradbury’s “The October Game” with E. Poe’s “The Black Cat.”
Consider how Bradbury successful mirrors Gothic techniques for his own modern protagonist. Consider Poe’s primary goal in the story: is he seeking to generate a Gothic tale or focus on the psychological development of the narrator?
Form an opinion regarding the actions and motivations of the narrators.

+ 10

3. Analyze Nathaniel Hawthorne’s character Beatrice in “Rappaccini’s Daughter” with James Joyce’s protagonist in “Eveline.” What similar or dissimilar techniques do the authors use to motivate their female protagonists?
Form an opinion regarding the passive actions and motivations of the main characters in conjunction with their fathers. Utilize “The Birthmark” for material.

+10

4. Free-for-all: Compose your own thesis statement regarding character actions and motivations from any of the following authors.
(You must include an additional outside short story reading from one source.)

Edgar Allan Poe

Ray Bradbury

Charlotte Gillman

William Faulkner

Nathaniel Hawthorne

Brothers Grim

Richard Wright

James Joyce

final project

CHECKLIST FOR ANALYSIS PAPERS:

*Quote evidence from the primary text to defend your answers to these questions.
Explain the quote or interpret the quote.
Never end a paragraph with a quotation.*

Who is the protagonist?

Is the protagonist a stereotypical hero?
Is the protagonist an anti-hero?
Is the protagonist a tragic hero?
How does the character transform?
Does the protagonist gain an epiphany moment?

Who is the antagonist?

What type of character is the protagonist/antagonist?
flat round dynamic static

Why does the author present the characters in the manner depicted?

Do the characters represent a larger group of individuals?

What is the conflict type represented?

What is the specific conflict shown?
What is a possible secondary conflict shown?
How does the conflict contribute to the theme?

Who do the characters resemble?

Are the characters archetypes?
Have you seen a similar plot somewhere else? (Intertextuality)
Bible
Greek/Roman myth
Fairy Tale plot
Shakespeare plot
How is the character motivated to act?
How does the character react?
How does the character speak to other characters?
How do other characters speak to him/her?

Do symbols exist in the text? (—sex, death, love)

religious-spiritual love fertility-erotic love love of a partner friendship-platonic love death

Is the story an analogy making a commentary about modern times?

Does the story portray a quest theme?

- physical
- spiritual
- psychological

What type of narration is used?

Do you trust the narration?

How are scenes presented to the reader?

- How is the setting presented?
- Could the setting represent one of the characters?
- What mood is the setting promoting?
- What tone does the author/narrator use?

What figurative language is being used in the story?

- Is there any ironic elements used in the story?
- Is there a foreshadowing moment in the opening?

How does the plot fit easily into Freytag's Pyramid?

- How strong of an exposition is used?
- What is the specific inciting moment?
- What is the climatic moment?
- What is the epiphany moment?

What type of technique is the author using?

- Is there any psychological experiments in the text?
- Is there any creative experiments in the text?

What is a possible reason for the author wanting to tell this story?

- Are there hidden meanings in the text?
 - political statement
 - religious or moral judgement
 - social commentary
- If none of these elements exist, why not?

What is the main point of the story?

- What is the story's theme?
- Is the story successful?

What are critics saying:

- about the story?
- about the author's technique?
- about the author's style?
- about the elements?
- about the characters?
- about the characters' motivations?
- about the characters' symbolism?

final project